- Mix about 20 drops of Soft Suede ink in about ¼ C alcohol. Place the lace trim into the mix. Pull out and allow to dry on a paper towel.
- Score the Blushing Bride card stock at 4½" the long way (with the 8½" side on top). Turn 90° and cut at 5½". Then fold and crease for two card bases.
- Punch the two right corners of the Whisper White card stock pieces with the Curvy Corner Trio punch.
- Stamp the middle of the Whisper White pieces with the blurry stamp from Timeless Textures in Mint Macaron ink. I stamped it many times to avoid a definite edge.
- Use the Bone Folder to role the Mint Macaron card stock back and forth to break down the fibers. The card stock will start to split. Carefully split the entire piece. Tear one long edge (tearing the edge upward). You will have one for each card. Adhere to the left edge of the card stock. I used Multipurpose Liquid Glue.
- Stamp the right side of the card stock diagonally with the dotted stamp in Blushing Bride ink.
- Stamp fleur-de-lis on the top right and bottom left corners in Soft Suede ink.
- Stamp the greeting (twice) from Rose Wonder on the Blushing Bride scrap in Soft Suede ink. Stamp over that with the splotches in Blushing Bride ink. Punch out with the Large Oval punch.
- Split the Linen Thread to a single ply. (Use one ply for each card.) Put some adhesive on the center of the card. Loosely loop the split thread on the adhesive. Adhere the tag over the adhesive and thread with Stampin' Dimensionals.
- Cut the lace trim in half. Punch a hole about 1½" from the left side of the card stock. Push the lace trim through the hole, adhering both ends to the back of the card stock.
- Adhere the card stock to the Blushing Bride card bases with Stampin' Dimensionals.
