Notes:

1. Fold and crease the card base.
2. Cut a piece of the Crushed Curry card stock in eighths so it's 4 ¼" by 2 ¾".
3. Cut a piece of Basic Black card stock to 4" x 2 ½".
4. Stamp the large "Amazing" in Whisper White Craft ink. This is a large stamp, too large for the D Block that you may have. You have some choices. Buy the larger E Block or the Stamparatus. In a pinch, you could place the stamp on the stamp case, ink it there, and "iron" the stamp with the D Block.
5. Stamp "wishing you an" in the same ink between the top lines and "birthday" between the bottom lines. Craft ink takes a bit longer to dry. We're doing this at the beginning to give it some time to dry.
6. Stamp the candles in Basic Gray or Memento ink across the inside bottom of the card.
7. Stamp the birthday hat in the same ink near a top corner in the inside of the card.
8. Stamp the candles or hat in the same ink on the envelope.
9. Stamp the balloons in the same ink two times on a piece of Crushed Curry. The first one should be about ½" from the left side and the second time should be about 1" from the right side and centered top to bottom. Punch each set of balloons with the 2 ¼" punch. The second one will be like a half moon and that's OK. Keep the outside frame too!
10. "Fussy Cut" one set of balloons with the Paper Snips. Cut just the polka dot balloon from the other set of balloons. Adhere the polka dot balloon over the other one with a Stampin' Dimensional.
11. Adhere the Basic Black card stock to the Crushed Curry frame with the Multipurpose Liquid Glue.
12. Place Stampin' Dimensionals in each corner of the Crushed Curry layer, plus one in the middle and one about an inch from the top left corner. This last one should extend halfway above the card stock. Adhere this layer to the card front.
13. Adhere the balloons with Multipurpose Liquid Glue so the balloons are over that one Stampin' Dimensional sticking up.
