Notes:

1. Score the Blackberry Bliss card stock at 4 ¼". Fold and crease for the card base.
2. Stamp a row of candles in Blackberry Bliss ink across the bottom of the Oh So Ombre Designer Series Paper. I found I could use the bottom edge of the paper to keep them all in a row. I started stamping on one side. I could put the side edge of the stamp just over the last candle. That resulted in a pretty even row. The candles are not in even on the bottom or perfectly parallel, so it's OK to be a bit off as you stamp.
3. Stamp If things really do get better with age, then you're approaching perfection! In Blackberry Bliss ink about ¾" from the top and right side of the Designer Series Paper.
4. Adhere the Designer Series Paper to the card front.
5. Stamp one more set of candles in Blackberry Bliss ink on the bottom left corner of the Basic White layer. Adhere this inside the card.

If you don't have the Oh So Ombre Designer Series Paper, you can create your own ombre layer with Blending Brushes. Apply the ink with a Blending Brush, starting on the left side. Use a circular motion. Work your way to the right side. Repeat until you have the effect you want.
