Notes:

- Score at 3 3/4" on all four sides.
 - My cardboard was 12 1/4" square. If yours is actually 12", cut it to 12" x 10 1/4" and score it at 3 5/8" on all 4 sides.
- Crease the score lines. They will not fold cleanly, but we'll cover it up with Designer Series Paper.
- Switch to an old blade on your cutter. Cardboard will dull your blade quickly. Cut 1 1/8" from the score line as shown with red lines. We want the flaps to meet in the middle. If they overlap, trim a bit shorter.
- Add adhesive, fold in the flaps, and adhere the center section over the flap on the outside.
- I found the easiest way to cover the box was to cover a long side with Multipurpose
- Liquid Glue and lay the box about 3/4" from the edge and centered on the Designer Series Paper. Add glue to the bottom section. Use a Bone Folder to crease and press to the box. Add glue to the back of the box and repeat the creasing and pressing with the
- Bone Folder. Snip the Designer Series Paper from the edge to the corners of the box. Add glue to the center sections of Designer Series Paper, fold, and crease to the inside. Finger press the edges of the Designer Series Paper. Cut along the creases to the bottom corners of the box. Fold the sides in. Trim to get close to the sides. Cover with the center section. Fold the ends inside the box.
- Adhere the card stock to the insides of the box.
- Add the 4 3/4" x 4" dividers.*
- Cut the Clear Medium Envelopes down to 3 3/4" and place one behind each divider. (I put several behind the divider for blank colored tags.)
- Score the remaining Designer Series Paper at 3" on all four sides. Trim and assemble as you did the box bottom. This is your top. I wanted my dividers to be a bit taller than the box, so the top actually sits on the dividers.
- Wrap the ribbon around the box top. Tie a bow. Add a tag (of course!) I stamped mine with For You from Elegantly Said.
