Notes:

The Two-Tone card stock is apparently a carry-over product from the adopted Close To My Heart line. Stampin' Up! intends to eventually offer all the Stampin' Up! colors in this Two-Tone paper.

The Two-Tone Card Stock is thinner than our normal card stock and thicker than the typical Designer Series Paper. One side is a bit lighter than the other. The color is printed, so the center is white.

It is a bit more brittle than Stampin' Up! standard card stock. It will crack some when used in the 3D Embossing Folders. I liked that for this project! Reduce the cracking by spritzing it first. Reduce it even more by spritzing, then adding a piece of copy paper over it inside the folder.

1. Score the Old Olive card stock at 4¼". Fold and crease for the card base.
2. Place the Basic Beige card stock into the Modern Oval Punch to note where you need to stamp. Remove from the punch. Stamp the greeting in Mossy Meadow ink. Punch out, keeping both the greeting piece and the frame.
3. Adhere the frame portion to the card front.
4. Emboss the Mossy Meadow Two-Tone Card Stock in the Painted Trees 3D Embossing folder.
5. Lightly sand the surface to increase the amount of white showing through. I used an inexpensive filing block from the beauty supply store. You can also use a nail file that you have on hand or a piece of sanding paper (around 150-200 grit) from the hardware store. Brush Wink of Stella over the raised areas.
6. Adhere the embossed layer over the Basic Beige layer.
7. Fold the ribbon in half and open to a V shape. Adhere to the card front. Adhere the greeting with Stampin' Dimensionals.
8. Add a few Poppy Parade Iridescent Discs on the trees.
9. Adhere the remaining Basic Beige card stock inside the card.
